

Stuart Uffner - NS Newsdesk Mon, Apr 16, 2012 Follow

Brushstroke Adds Sushi Bar and Recruits Ichimura

NY Times

Eiji Ichimura will man Brushstroke's new sushi bar, according to The New York Times.

The year-old restaurant's eight-seat bar had formerly been used for liquor, but David Bouley said the change was part of his plan all along.

"We had always planned to do sushi. It was just a matter of figuring it out. Now we have brought in a master and he needed his own venue," Bouley told the Times.

The sushi bar will offer two seatings per night for omakase sushi menus starting at $150. Reservations are required.

For more information, check out The New York Times.

Brushstroke: 30 Hudson St. at Duane St.