There's more than one way to experience Bouley. Our mission continues to create the most nutrient dense menus, immersing guests in a community of shared culinary knowledge for unbreakable health.

We continue to reimagine what Bouley can be. We reached new audiences through our adapted virtual programming. The launch of our upcoming book 'Bouley at Home: Living Pantry' 2024 will coincide with our Membership Program and Chef and Dr. Series.

As part of our transformation we have a selection of keepsakes from the many incarnations of Bouley. Please enjoy the enclosed items for sale as we redesign the future 'Bouley'. For any questions please email us at connect@BouleyAtHome.com.

Stay safe, well and vigilant.
Herbal Blessings,

Lighting, Mirrors, Copper Ware, Furniture and more...

Each item chosen or commissioned for Bouley celebrates craftsmanship, artisanal design, history and connectivity to your extended Bouley Family.

With every design challenge, David Bouley joins the artists and their ability to realize a vision that exceeds initial intentions. With each incarnation of a new Bouley space time is suspended: creative individuals link to form a think tank of creativity, a new alliance. Their collective work has left an impressive level of memories for Bouley Guests. Feel free to send a message of what you remember so we may compile a time capsule of moments (continued) to: connect@BouleyAtHome.com.

Please note, that with anything that is truly loved, the condition of each item varies and comes with an energetic appreciation of patina, wear with slight imperfections.

Our e-commerce site is currently in construction. At this time bank or personal checks are welcomed. Tax is not included in the listed price.

CLAUDE CHEVALLEY ARTIST

Chevalley studied at the École des Beaux-Arts in Paris before embarking in a career in the advertising and publishing industries and spending a year as the “official artist” of Monaco at Prince Rainier’s request in 1995. From New York to Tokyo, his exhibits—which reflect his passion for the styles of the Impressionist masters, have received acclaim. Claude Chevalley did not start out painting landscapes, but upon discovering what Impressionists had laid their claim to fame on: “that perfect light of Provence”, his artistic focus was forever changed. “In Paris, shadows are grey; they have no color,” says Claude. “In Provence, the shadow of a tree can be red or blue; it is a complementary color altered by an intangible element in the light there”.

WALL TREATMENTS

Le Palais Stoclet, in Belgium was the one of the most emblematic projects commissioned for the Wiener Werkstätte (Viennese Workshops). The founding artists, including Gustav Klimt, Franz Metzner, and Josef Hoffmann, together, were able to experiment beyond the confinements of art within academic constraints. In 1897, they became notorious for creating an eclectic body of work not only unified by aesthetics, but by purpose.

One hundred years later, interior designer Jacques García and artist Gerard Coltat drew their inspirations for Bouley's projects in the United States from the Stoclet House dining room, where walls are lined with 20-foot mosaic friezes by Klimt.

Today we share with you the moment to define your own environment with their passions of creativity. Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Love of beauty is taste. The creation of beauty is art."

ARTIST GERARD COLTAT

Artist Gerard Coltat of Nice, France evokes the spirit of Klimt, the turn-of-the-century Austrian painter whose sensual images are replete with gold and silver textured gilding. Designer Jacques Garcia's, Paris office superintended commissions of Coltat's work, in addition to Bouley's Danube, for the Ritz Carlton, in Miami as well as for real estate owner, Cohen's 57th Street building at Lexington Avenue. Found on subsequent pages are Coltat's works: paintings and wall treatments: a series of mystical deep blue waves with gold strands and swirls. A unique technique of oil on canvas, adhered to and set behind German hammered glass.
